

EPPEL

Elgin Partnership for Early Learning

ANNUAL REPORT | 2020

WHO WE ARE:

EPEL helps all Elgin/U-46 families with children ages birth through five years old, especially those furthest from opportunity, connect to traditional and non-traditional early education opportunities, intensifying the impact of local efforts to prepare their communities' children for success in school and life.

EPEL uses a "Together We Can" mantra to mobilize partners, funders, policymakers, program providers, and our community to build early learning awareness and unite efforts to improve access, support, and equitable opportunities for families and the youngest learners.

OUR MISSION, OUR VISION:

Elgin Partnership for Early Learning is building a connected community dedicated to helping all young children thrive.

Our children are happy, healthy and ready for kindergarten!

WHAT WE BELIEVE:

EPEL is driven to ensure that all children have access to quality early care and education in Elgin and surrounding communities that will attend School District U-46 Kindergarten in the future. In partnership with our stakeholders, we are committed to promoting policies and practices that intentionally meet the needs of children and families from diverse backgrounds and social identities.

A MESSAGE FROM AMBER:

Ten years ago, President Barack Obama was re-elected, Lyft car-sharing service was launched, ExxonMobil was the largest company, and an early childhood collaboration, Elgin Partnership for Early Learning (EPEL), was established.

In 2011, community leaders gathered around a table for coffee in downtown Elgin to envision what a community would look like where “ALL” children had access to high-quality care, coordinated early childhood services, and support to enter Kindergarten prepared and ready to learn. The idea was that cross-sector partners would work collaboratively to create a community of support and care with an outcome of thriving children and families. EPEL was formed as a collective impact organization to support our youngest children and their caregivers while working together as a community to address the opportunity and achievement gap as children enter Kindergarten.

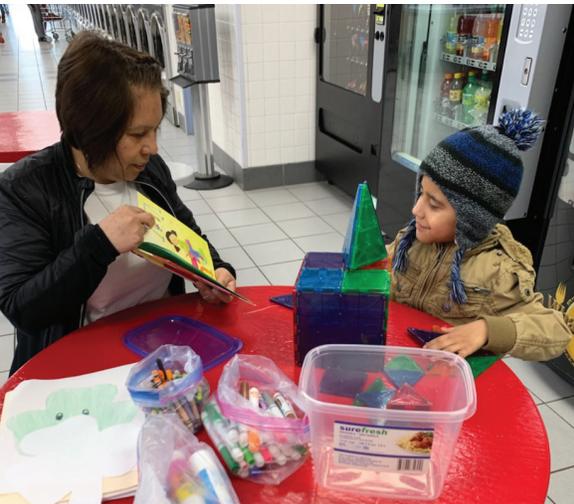

EPEL’s vision, “All children happy, healthy, and ready to learn,” can not be achieved alone. As you see, after ten years, we have re-imagined our logo from fitting puzzle pieces (partners and services) together to overlapping circles with a child and caregiver in the center to represent building a connected community dedicated to helping young children thrive. EPEL’s new logo reflects the partners overlapping support and services (Early Learning and Leadership, Health, and Family Leadership and Support) while always keeping children and family at the center of our discussions and goals. The person in the middle of the logo might be a parent, grandparent, educator, caregiver, neighbor, or community member supporting the journey from birth to Kindergarten for the child they are embracing.

I hope you will take a minute to reflect on our community’s future, the children that are our future workforce, and where you or your organization fit into the circles of care in the first 2,000 days of a child’s life. Join the movement and invest in the future.

Together We Can build a strong foundation and brighter future for our youngest learners.

CONNECTING AND MOBILIZING COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

EPEL and our partners have a plan to create a coordinated, high-quality early childhood system that will narrow the achievement gap for children entering Kindergarten.

Using a collective impact model, EPEL examines and works to build connected local systems with partners to create ways to impact capacity, to provide resources, early childhood initiatives, information, and support for families and providers of children under five years of age.

- With the City of Elgin and Alignment Collaborative for Education, early learning signs were installed in local parks to build Kindergarten readiness skills.
- With YWCA Elgin and Gail Borden Public Library, books and story time were added to 3 laundromats to promote early learning anywhere and everywhere.
- With mobile food pantries, books and resources were distributed to families while they waited.
- With partners, special topics were discussed at collaboration meetings.
- With many businesses, While You Wait Book Baskets were installed throughout the community so families could read while they waited.
- With School District U-46 a common message (Talk, Play, Read, Do, & Write) was adopted so that all children starting at birth will build a strong foundation for learning during the critical first 2,000 days of early brain development.

FAMILY ENGAGEMENT

- 844-KID-INFO: Toll-free phone line to connect families to support, resources and enroll in early learning programs
- Website of resources for families, educators and stakeholders
- Engage families to meet basic needs and expand early learning experiences, e.g. diapers, literacy bags

HEALTHY DEVELOPMENT

- Provide developmental “check up” screenings including social-emotional throughout the community, such as food pantries, laundromats, EPEL website, etc...
- Connect healthcare partners to early childhood community resources to Meet Families Where They Are
- Sponsor Learning on the Go Summer programs and neighborhood pop-ups to connect families and children with resources to develop Kindergarten readiness skills

EARLY LEARNING

- Distribute Getting Ready for Kindergarten calendars in Spanish and English
- Increase the number of young children receiving services
- Partner with early childhood programs to support training and technical assistance of early childhood professionals that will increase the quality of early experiences provided
- Provide quarterly child care director and family care provider network meetings to connect, share information, and work together on solutions

“He is ready for kindergarten. He is happy doing all activities. Every day he asks me what we do.” –Margarita, YWCA Elgin ESL Mom
